Don't make grammar errors!

- I know alot about precious stones
- It's one of the hardest courses in it's history

Make sure that there is sufficient contrast between text and the background behind it.

Avoid gender pronouns

- Ask the student whether he is prepared to give a presentation.
- Ask whether the student is prepared to give a presentation

This revision does not clearly indicate whether the student or another person is being asked; writers must recognize and respond to such lack of clarity if it affects comprehension.
